WOODWARD & LOTHROP.

CARELESS CONSUMPTIVE IS A FOE TO SOCIETY

Health Officer Woodward Says Spreader of Germs Should be Prosecuted as Common Criminal.

A more deadly assault against the life of an individual could hardly be committed than is daily done by the tubercular patient who takes no precautions to prevent the inoculation of others with germs. Such is the opinion of Health Officer Woodward, who thinks such negligence should be punished by law. "The tuberculous patient who sneezes in the company of persons without taking the precaution to hold a handkerchief to his face is as much to be feared by society as the man who makes an assault with a brick," said Dr. Woodward last night. "He is as much of a criminal, and he deserves to be punished accordingly. Personally, I'd rather be struck by a brick than by the tubercular germs. In the end I would be injured less."

The tuberculous end in the District is somewhat higher than that of other cities of similar population. This is due for the most part to the large colored population. There is three times as much tuberculosis among the colored as among the white residents of the District. This is not wholly caused, as many persons believe, to insanitary conditions among colored people. Improper housing conditions, unwholesome food, uncleanness, and poverty are responsible for some of the tuberculosis among the colored people of the District, but by no means are they responsible for the greater part. "The reason lies in the fact that the colored is not yet entirely acclimated. It must be remembered that the colored man was brought from the torrid to the temperate zone only a few generations ago. He has not had time to accustom himself to the climate.

"I am glad to know that the Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis has initiated a campaign to obtain an item in the District appropriations budget for the employment of a corps of tuberculosis nurses to work in conjunction with and under the supervision of the health department. There is a great need for such nurses. At present the department has none. The only tuberculosis nurses in the city are private ones or those employed by charity organizations."

ST. PATRICK'S MISSION ENDS.
Apostolate Fathers Pleased With Attendance During Stay.

Closing services of the three weeks' Catholic mission at St. Patrick's Catholic Church under the direction of the fathers of the New York Apostolate were held last night with a lecture on "Is religion as good as another?" This service was for non-Catholics. The attendance during the entire service has been excellent, and Rev. A. T. Roach, Rev. J. E. Wickham, and Rev. J. H. McGinnis, in charge of the mission, expressed themselves as gratified with the result of the work.

IMPERIAL THEATER OPENS.

Informal Sunday Concert and Inspection of New Playhouse.

In order that future patrons of the new Imperial Theater might see what is in store for them on the premier performance to-night, the management of the new Ninth street playhouse entertained the stockholders at an informal Sunday concert.

Manager McKean, in a brief speech, opened the building for inspection, and until a late hour a throng explored every section of the theater, from the top of the gallery to the dressing rooms beneath the stage. The beauty and completeness of the equipment met with praise from every side. A musical programme was given throughout the evening by the Imperial orchestra, under the direction of John N. Pistorio.

"Shop Early" a Winner.

The refusal of the Capital Traction Company to allow the Retail Merchants' Association to place their "Shop Early" cards inside street cars, has been overcome by the offer of Frank P. Rogers, Washington manager of the Baron G. Collier advertising organization, to give advertising space in all street cars. The offer will be accepted.

Mrs. Taft, while in New York recently, named a doll which is dressed in a debutante and is to be sold at auction to-morrow afternoon at the bazaar to be held at the Waldorf-Astoria for the benefit of the Sisters of St. Mary's new school at Peekskill, N. Y. Mrs. Taft's signature, with the name of the doll, written by her, will go with the doll, and there is great interest being taken in the bazaar and the auction, which will be at 4:30 o'clock. Mrs. Henry Taft is one of the women particularly interested in the bazaar.

The British Ambassador and Mrs. Bryce returned to the embassy last evening after a few days' visit in Brooklyn and New York.

The Russian Ambassador and Mrs. Bakmeteff arrived at the Arlington yesterday afternoon from New York, where they landed after a stormy passage. They were met at the station by the latter's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. John R. McLean, Mrs. McLean remaining with her sister for several hours at the hotel. Mrs. Bakmeteff felt the fatigue of her journey keenly and retired early, after having canceled her dinner engagement at the home of her brother-in-law. They will be busy for some days selecting a home for the embassy, as the Russian government does not as yet own its own embassy here. They have selected for some years the home of the Nathaniel Taylor, in I street, the embassy being located previously to that in the home of former Vice President and Mrs. Levi F. Morton, recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. John Hays Hammond, who will have Mrs. Moran's home in Sheridan circle, this season.

The Fifteenth Cavalry Band attracted a large contingent of music lovers among the army people yesterday to Fort Myer, who went over for the guard mount and sacred concert. The ideal weather was the inducement for a larger crowd than usual.

Miss Mary A. Cryder entertained at a small tea and music yesterday afternoon for her sister, Miss Beatrice Cryder, of London, who is visiting her for a short time. Miss Hilda Koehler, a charming young mezzo-soprano, gave an impromptu programme, assisted by Miss Ethel Toller, pianist, and among other songs sang the new composition of Miss Toller, "Floriana," for which Miss Cryder wrote the words, which are both dainty and bright. Miss Cryder and her two sisters were born in London, although their parents were New Yorkers. The family has spent many years abroad; Miss Cryder returning here about ten years ago and establishing her home in this city, where her father joined her after her mother's death in France. Miss Beatrice Cryder will go to New York this week to visit relatives there for a time.

The engagement was announced last evening of Miss Una S. Galloway, of this city, to Mr. E. Leslie Carleton, of Virginia, son of Mrs. J. Lyle, of Virginia. The wedding will probably take place in the spring.

Senator and Mrs. J. B. Foraker are now in their Washington home, where the preparation for the wedding of their younger daughter, Louise, and Mr. Victor N. Cushman, of New York and Bar Harbor, will take place on the 29th, Thanksgiving eve. The wedding date has been somewhat hastened, as Mr. Cushman's mother, Mrs. Edwin C. Cushman, of Bar Harbor, will spend the winter abroad, and wishes to be present at her son's wedding. The bride will be attended by her sister, Mrs. Francis King, of Philadelphia, as matron of honor, and the bridegroom will have his brother, Mr. Allerton Cushman, of this city, for his best man. The company at the wedding will include only the relatives of the bride and bridegroom and a few intimate friends. They are hoping Bishop Earl Cranston, an old and close friend of Senator Foraker, will return to Washington in time to officiate at the ceremony. Miss Foraker and Mr. Cushman will be entertained at dinner the evening before the wedding by Commander and Mrs. Archibald Davis.

It is expected that the wedding date of Miss Mary Southernland, daughter of Rear Admiral Southernland, and Mr. Louis Bacon, of Boston, whose engagement was announced last week, will be January 1. Miss Southernland, who is one of the closest of Miss Helen Taft's friends, will be entertained considerably before her marriage, owing to her great popularity and large acquaintance in Washington, where she has lived nearly all her life. Mr. Bacon is spending the week-end in Washington.

Mrs. William F. Draper will give a fancy dress ball on December 27 in her K street residence for her daughter, Miss Draper. This is one of the most important social affairs of a Washington season when the Drapers are in their house here, and has been an annual event since Miss Draper was little more than a baby, except when the family has been abroad, as they were during the time the late Gen. Draper was United States Ambassador to Italy. The same guests have been entertained year after year as they were growing up, until now the little coterie comprises the young men and young women in society here, with, of course, a number of additions to the childish list.

Rear Admiral Richardson Clover has returned to his Washington home, but Mrs. Clover is still in New York. Miss Clover will not return from Europe until some time next month, and Miss Beatrice Clover has returned to her school.

Miss Alice Brice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur T. Brice, will be presented to society at a tea on November 23, making her first debut of the season in Washington. The others will follow in quick succession from this date, one each day and sometimes two, until they have all made their bow before the season's festivities have gotten well under way.

Congratulations are due Mr. and Mrs. Augustine Derby, of Rye, N. Y., on the arrival of a daughter on October 23. Mrs. Derby was formerly Miss Olga Converse, youngest daughter of the late Rear Admiral Converse, who was one of the most popular debutantes and belles of Washington society has known.

The two buds of the navy yard this year, Miss Emily Beatty and Miss Dorothy Taylor, will be presented at the same time at a tea to be given by Mrs. Beatty on December 8 in the home of Capt. Beatty, commandant of the navy yard. Miss Taylor is the daughter of Capt. Taylor, naval constructor, stationed at the yard.

Senator and Mrs. Oliver, of Pittsburgh, have returned to Washington and opened their home, in Massachusetts avenue, for the winter, where they were joined last week by their daughter, Miss Jean Oliver, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Murray Cobb for several weeks.

Mrs. Sharp, wife of Representative William G. Sharp, of Ohio, has returned to Washington, and will be at home informally to-morrow afternoon at her home, 1814 Sixteenth street, which is the former home of Gov. and Mrs. William R. Merriam. Representative Sharp is prominently spoken of for governor of his State.

Mrs. Katherine Livingston Eagan, who has spent several winters in Washington, will return here this week and join her daughter, Mrs. Eugene Cowles Pomeroy, of New York, and her little daughter Josephine, who are in an apartment at the Dresden, which they have taken for the winter. Mr. and Mrs. Pomeroy and their little daughter have recently returned from a year's trip around the world.

Mrs. Potter Palmer, who has always entertained the members of her family at a Christmas house party, will have them to her new home, in Florida, this year, at Sarasota Bay, which is one of the most beautiful places in that State.

Capt. Sowerby, naval attaché of the British Embassy, has returned to Washington from Beverly, where he spent the summer, and New York, where he has been making a visit.

Two very interesting buds have been added to the debutante circle of this season in the Misses Maria Carolina and Malvina de Pena, daughters of the new Minister from Uruguay.

Col. and Mrs. Heft, of Bridgeport, Conn., who have been visiting Capt. and Mrs. Wigmore, at the Barracks, have returned to their home. Mrs. Moor, mother of Mrs. Heft and Mrs. Wigmore, has also returned to her home after a visit at the Barracks. Miss Gladys Richardson, daughter of Mrs. Heft, is spending the

GRANDMA DOESN'T FEAR FOR SARAH

Mrs. Alexander Thinks Girl Safe with Friends.

Sarah Trunell, fourteen years old, who escaped from the Bruen Home, where she had been committed by Judge De Lacy for the theft of clothes to complete her trousseau for her wedding to a young mechanic, is in the home of a friend, according to her grandmother, Mrs. Sarah C. Alexander.

"I wish to deny all reports that I have received a note from Sarah threatening suicide," said Mrs. Alexander, "and I wish also to contradict statements attributed to me to the effect that I know where the girl is hiding. I have been quoted as telling Chief of Detectives Boardman that I know where Sarah can be found."

"I have not seen or heard from Sarah since she ran away from the Bruen Home. I feel certain that she is in the safekeeping of friends."

HAS "REVERSIBLE HAT."

Mrs. Longworth Stirs Envy in Breasts of Many Women.

Parisian milliners would envy the skill with which Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth trims her own fetching hats. In passing through Washington en route to Cincinnati, where she will remain until the opening of Congress, Mrs. Longworth proudly displayed to her friends what she called her "reversible hat."

This marvel of the milliner's art was an Alice blue French velvet, which, trimmed simply and turned up at one side, made an attractive traveling hat.

Mrs. Longworth explained that whenever she wanted to wear the hat for dress she simply put on it a mass of white tulle and placed a flower here and there.

Mrs. Longworth has long been noted for her beautiful and effective hats. She aims to make her hat suit her own face rather than the styles.

At the Current History Class at Rauscher's this morning at 11 o'clock Miss Janet Richards will bring up to date the leading public questions of to-day, and will speak especially of the crisis in Persia, of which Mr. Morgan Shuster, of Washington, is at present the storm center, and also of the sensation caused in political circles last week by the Roosevelt editorial in the Outlook on the regulation of trusts under the Sherman law.

Mr. Lee Kent, of Virginia, entertained a number of his friends at supper at the New Elkhart Saturday evening. Among those present were Misses Marjorie H. Young, Elizabeth B. Turner, Dorothy Hodgkin; Messrs. Francis G. Turner, William G. Hyatt, J. O. Hodgkin, and A. F. Hobgood, of Richmond, Va. Mr. J. O. Hodgkin and Mr. A. F. Hobgood are of the University College of Medicine, Richmond, Va. Mr. L. Lee Kent, also of Virginia, who attended the Georgetown-Virginia game, was the house guest of Miss Frances G. Turner, of Garfield street.

A Thanksgiving Day Proclamation

Another Thanksgiving Day is near at hand—a time when the nation will give thanks for its prosperity. Aside from the significance attached to this important event, there is another thought which occupies the attention of almost every one—the Thanksgiving Day dinner. There are no greater epicures than the residents of Washington, and the readers of The Washington Herald, especially its women readers, are requested to send in menus which will best give their individual ideas of the most appetizing Thanksgiving Day dinner.

To the best four menus received on or before November 26 The Washington Herald will give the senders $5 each. The winning menus will be published in The Washington Herald Tuesday, November 28, and will be selected by a competent committee.
